Unisa to re-open applications for the 2018 academic year for first-time entering undergraduate students

Following communication from Universities SA (USAf) on 10 January 2018 regarding how universities should manage walk-in students during the 2018 registration period, the University of South Africa has made the following decisions:

Unisa will re-open applications for the 2018 academic year for first-time entering undergraduate students who have not previously applied for admission to the 2018 academic year.

First-time entering undergraduate students may apply via the Unisa application website or via a self-help station at Unisa's Service Centres by 19 January 2018.

Unisa will only process new applications received by the application deadline of 19 January 2018. Offers will then be made to qualifying applicants on a first come, first served basis, subject to the number of places still available for the 2018 academic year.

Unisa will open undergraduate applications for semester 2 of the 2018 academic year in April 2018.
