Public Lecture:

The Unisa Graduate School of Business Leadership (SBL) introduced public lectures in 2010 with the aim to provide a platform for our stakeholders to engage in local and international discussions and debates on leadership related issues.

On Wednesday, 18 August the South African Reserve Bank (SARB) won the bid against Public Protector, Busisiwe Mkhwebane who ordered to change the mandate SARB. During the next public lecture to be hosted by the SBL the focus will be on the role and mandate of SARB. The lecture will be presented by the SARB Governor, Lesetja Kganyago.

The event is taking place as follows:

Date: Wednesday, 30 August 2017
Venue: UNISA Graduate School of Business Leadership
Sasol Auditorium 1
Time: 18:00 for 18:30

"The introduction of these lectures is an initiative where our stakeholders can draw from the world's best thought leaders with the objective to, not only share knowledge with our stakeholders but also provide a platform for those with like-minded interests to interact and network - to expose ourselves and to chew collectively on some of the best thinking of whatever topic of interest is being addressed, said Dr Renosi Mokate, Unisa SBL Executive Dean.

The event will be attended by leaders in the public and private sectors, prominent and illustrious SBL alumni and students, Unisa and SBL management, members of the Unisa Council, the Unisa SBL Board, SBL academic staff and various SARB stakeholders.

Member of Media are invited to attend the event.
